$125 will change the life of a child forever!

HealthCare Volunteer has announced it will operate a free children's surgery clinic in Raipur, India December 14 - December 31, 2009. HealthCare Volunteer's Raipur-based surgeon Dr. Nilesh Pagaria, and US-based, Dr. Neilesh Patel will comprise the HealthCare Volunteer surgical team.

Surgeries to be performed will include Cleft lip, cleft palate, TMJ ankylosis and a variety of facial deformities.

The team will perform children's camps in surrounding villages to screen patients every three days during the clinic session in order to continue to find and treat cases. Due to the high demand for facial deformity surgeries, the team has committed to working around the clock to perform as many as 100 surgeries during the time.

Many of the children from the surrounding villages of Raipur, India have no access to physicians or dentists, have breathing problems and many of them live on less than $1 a day and a shortage of food and water. Many of these surgeries often cost up to $25,000 per case in the United States, but for only a mere $125 donation to cover the cost of sutures, scalpels, anesthesia and surgical supplies, these children's lives can be changed! Don't wait...Help Today!
